What comfasion is this!

If our neighbor is right in the first esutence, he is wrong in the next; for the two sentences presuppose directly centrary theories of the relation of the Faderal Government to the Territories, one implying squatter-sovereignty and the other the sovereignty and the other the sovereignty of the people of the United States. As our neighbor solveriously maintains or trias to maintain the former canvans will present to you. We must decids not of these two theories, bis essertion of the latter must only whather we will preserve our country or not,

The right of sleve property in the Territories is thus set shove the lawful reach either of Congress When the Tarritories assume the condition of Sixtes they necessarily cast off the restrictions of the Constitution in casting off the stete of dependency to which such restrictions are attached. This view is exactly with our own.
